This Current Report on Form 6-K is being filed for the purpose of updating the market on potential risk involving cash balances in Venezuelan Bolivares subject to foreign exchange controls.

Since 2003, under the foreign exchange control regime imposed by the Venezuelan government, foreign companies that sell their goods and services in Venezuela must obtain government approval to exchange Venezuelan Bolivars into U.S. dollars at the fixed official exchange rate for the purpose of transferring funds out of Venezuela.

In recent periods, foreign companies, including airline operators, have experienced increasing delays for such approvals by the Venezuelan authority (the Comisión de Administración de Divisa, or CADIVI), resulting in higher cash balances subject to the exchange controls. As a result of these delays, Copa Holdings' cash balance in Venezuelan Bolivares has gradually increased to approximately $106 million as of June 30, 2009.

Although several airline operators, including Copa Airlines, have recently engaged in ongoing discussions with the Central Bank to expedite the approval process, at this moment we have not been informed as to when or whether we will be able to repatriate funds at the current fixed official exchange rate and could be therefore exposed if there is a devaluation of the Bolivar before such approval.
